

The Senses

Every average individual relies on his/her five senses to provide information about the world and live with the world. It must be very difficult to lose any of the five senses which include the sense of seeing, hearing, smelling, touching and tasting.

Directions: Cross out (X) the wrong picture in each row.

