

MIND TO ALIGN? Changing Text Alignment

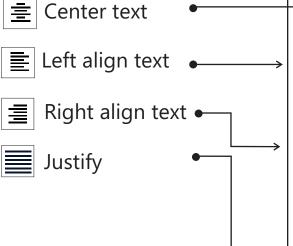

You can enhance the appearance of your document by aligning text in different ways.

FOR WINDOWS 7 USERS:

Changing Text Alignment

- 1. Select the text that you want to align differently.
- 2. Move the mouse \(\bar{\chi} \) over one of the following alignment options and then press the left button.

You're in Anaheim, California. You've gotten up early and beaten the heavy traffic to pull into an enormous parking lot. In fact, you're there a half hour before the doors open, just to be ready to go inside. You've got sunscreen and your most comfortable sneakers on. Why are you so prepared? You've got just one day to explore the Happiest Place on Earth.

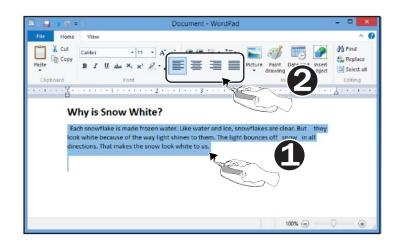

If you're going during the regular season, be prepared for crowding and plan your strategies and meeting times in advance. Arrive early; get your map and check to see which rides are closed for repairs. In general, the best time to hit the most popular rides is first thing in the morning or during the parades and Fantasmic.

If you've got little kids and aren't planning on riding roller coasters, then consider going to Toon Town first thing in the morning. It's at the very back of the park, so while everyone else is waylaid by the charms of Main Street and Fantasyland, you're already riding all the Toon Town rides.

FOR WINDOWS 8 USERS:

Changing Text Alignment

- 1. Select the text that you want to align differently.
- 2. Move the mouse \(\bar{\chi} \) over one of the following alignment options and then press the left button.

■ Right align text

The text that you have selected now appears in the

